

THE INTERNATIONAL PREPARATORY SCHOOL

HALLOWEEN 2017

“What a great party!” This phrase was heard several times during and after the event. And it was a great party. There is no doubt about it. And it all started with planning, coordination, cooperation and leadership, especially that of Juan Carlos Pino, who planned the campaign and led the charge. He and his crew have been hard at it since his last phenomenal success, our Fiestas Patrias Celebration.

Lots more people joined in to help in any way they could.

Then it was time for the event. Even before 6:00 people started showing up, but the doors of the haunted school house did not open until then. With teachers in place, the doors opened and the visitors began to arrive.

TIPS is all about the vanguard of communications nowadays. Obviously, we are into every way of communicating electronically.

Our teachers are a varied group from diverse backgrounds.

Do keep in mind that these are the people that educate your children. And, do not judge a book by its cover. All in good fun and fright.

Our guests did not hesitate to enter into the Halloween spirit and came dressed in a fascinating variety of costumes. The following are sample only as more photos can be found in Friends of the International Preparatory School.

Thank you to all the parents who entered so wholeheartedly into the spirit of the party. We enjoyed seeing all the costumes although the photo below is my personal favourite photo.

We were especially impressed by the number of families that came dressed as a theme group. We had visiting Jedi, the Smurfs, Mexican Day of the Dead, and more.

And a Happy Halloween was had by all.
